

Doctoral Program Committee

Doctoral students should establish a program committee early in their program, usually by the end of their first semester but no later than the end of the first year. The program committee guides students in developing a Plan of Study, advises students during the coursework phase of their program, and oversees the written and oral examination process.

Your Plan of Study should accompany this form. Is the Plan of Study attached/completed? Yes:

Program Committee Members and Approval of Plan of Study. Depending on the program, committee members may advise, approve, or review the Plan of Study. Signature verifies that the faculty member has appropriate graduate faculty membership and is agreeing to serve on this committee. It also indicates that the committee member has received a copy of the Plan of Study to be submitted.
